

Lunchtime Business Symposium on the State of the Economy

October 2, 2017 @ 12 noon-1:00pm Registration begins at 11:15

Buffet opens at 11:45

Greenville Hilton

207 Greenville Blvd. SW, Greenville, NC

James Hamilton – Featured Speaker

Macroeconomist and Time Series
Econometrician, University of California, San Diego

“The Federal Reserve and Quantitative Easing: What Did It Accomplish?”

James Butkiewicz

Chair, University of Delaware, Department of Economics

“The Second Triffin Paradox and US Reserve
Currency Status”

Randall Parker

Macroeconomist, East Carolina University

“Shut Up and Take your Castor Oil: 2% Growth is Good for You”

Open to the Public with special emphasis on inviting the Financial/Business Community of Eastern North Carolina. Please join us for a frank and open discussion of the current and future course of our economy.

$35.00 for lunch and open forum. First confirmations get front tables.

Contact: Randall Parker, Department of Economics, ECU at parkerr@ecu.edu

Make checks payable to: The ECU Foundation, mail to Randall Parker, ECU Dept. of Economics, Brewster A-427, Greenville, NC 27858.

This is a Fund-Raising Event for Student Scholarships in the Department of Economics, East Carolina University. All funds raised are strictly for that purpose.

Please click here to register and make your payment online.

This event has been generously funded by a grant from the Charles Koch Foundation